THE DRAPER CAMERA

The first fast-action camera in the world was developed by John W. Draper (Professor of Chemistry, 1836–1839) while at Hampden-Sydney. Created from in-depth scientific and cooperative research, the camera is on display in the front gallery of the Museum. By using the camera and a departmental telescope, Draper wrote he took the first astronomical photographs. After leaving Hampden-Sydney College to become a professor at New York University Medical College, Draper was able to take the world's first true portrait of a living person on September 23, 1839.

THE SABER OF LATANÉ

Also on display are the officer's saber and scabbard belonging to Captain William Latané, Class of 1853 (in Hampden-Sydney's Medical Department). His death in the Civil War Battle of Old Church inspired a poem by John R. Thompson and artwork by William Dickenson Washington; engravings of Washington's iconic painting became popular throughout the South.

The saber is clearly visible in the engraving of Washington's work on display.

RECIPIENT OF HONORARY DEGREE AND COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER

ROBERT HURT '91
Doctor of Humane Letters

A native of Pittsylvania County, ROBERT HURT returned to his hometown of Chatham to practice law in 1995. He lives in Chatham, Virginia, with his wife, Kathy, and their three sons, Charles, Clement, and John.

Congressman Hurt began his time in public service in 2001 as a member of the Chatham Town Council. From 2002 to 2007, he served in the Virginia House of Delegates, representing parts of Pittsylvania County, Henry County, and the City of Martinsville. Starting in 2008, Hurt represented the 19th District in the Senate of Virginia for two years, which included the City of Danville, Pittsylvania County, Franklin County and part of Campbell County. He was engaged in a general law practice in the courthouse town of Chatham from 1999 to 2010.

Congressman Hurt currently represents Virginia's Fifth District in the U.S. House of Representatives. He is a member of the Financial Services Committee, which has jurisdiction over all aspects of the nation's financial and housing sectors. Within the Committee, Hurt serves as the Vice Chairman of the Capital Markets and Government Sponsored Enterprises Subcommittee and serves on the Housing and Insurance Subcommittee, as well as the Oversight and Investigations Subcommittee.

RECIPIENT OF HONORARY DEGREE
AND BACCALAUREATE SPEAKER

REVEREND VIRGINIA “GINI” DISTANISLAO

Doctor of Divinity

VIRGINIA “GINI” DISTANISLAO is the priest-in-charge of The Episcopal Church of St. Paul and St. Andrew in Kenbridge, Virginia, where she has served since her ordination in 2008. She graduated from Mary Baldwin College in 1984 with a Bachelor of Arts in Economics. Upon completing her undergraduate studies, Gini became the President of Bon Air Title Agency in Richmond, Virginia, where she continues to work with real estate attorneys and professionals throughout the Commonwealth of Virginia. She is the current employer of six Hampden-Sydney graduates and has received numerous national awards for her work in the title insurance industry. In 2005, Gini, after many years of devotion and service to the church, decided to further her education by pursuing a path to ministry. She was the first to graduate from the School of Ministry Formation in the Episcopal Diocese of Southern Virginia and, along with her work in Kenbridge, currently serves on the Executive Board of the Diocese.

Gini’s son, Drew DiStanislaio, and her nephew, John Moore, are both graduating from Hampden-Sydney this weekend. Her husband, Judge Phil DiStanislaio (1977), father, Judge Ernest Gates (1947), four brothers, one brother-in-law, and five nephews all graduated from Hampden-Sydney College. Gini has a great love for the school and is honored to present the Baccalaureate address.

RECIPIENT OF HONORARY DEGREE

SIR GEORGE MILES HOBART-HAMPDEN

Doctor of Humane Letters

GEORGE MILES HOBART-HAMPDEN, the tenth Earl of Buckinghamshire, is a descendant of John Hampden, one of the revered English patriots for whom Hampden-Sydney College is named. With over 40 years' experience in the pensions and investment industries, he was until last year a Director of BESTrustees, a leading human resources consulting firm, with which he still works. In addition, he has been a Trustee, Director, or Chairman of several corporate pension schemes and merger committees, and a widely-sought consultant on such subjects as the exercise of discretionary trustee powers, deficit-recovery plan funding, trustee risk, and volatility-reducing investment policies.

In the realm of public service, he sat in the House of Lords from 1984 to 1999; there he contributed his corporate expertise as a member of the All-Party Group committees on occupational pensions and on ageing issues. He was also a member of the European Union Committees on Social and Consumer Affairs and Finance, Trade, and External Relations.

He has been a trustee of Buckinghamshire New University and is an Honorary Trustee of Illinois Wesleyan University. He has served as Chair of The Cook Society and the British Australia Society and was President of the Buckingham Conservative Constituency Association for twenty-six years.

Because Hobart, the capital of Tasmania in Australia, was named for his ancestor, the fourth Earl, he is a Patron of the Sleep Apnoea Trust there, the Tasmanian Early Settlers Association and the John Hampden Society. He is President of the Friends of the Vale of Aylesbury and of the Downend Police and Community Amateur Boxing Club.

He is an alumnus of Clifton College in Bristol and of Exeter University, where he took a bachelor's degree in History with Honours. He earned a Master's degree in British Commonwealth Area Studies at The Institute of Commonwealth Studies in London University's Birkbeck College.

In his spare time he enjoys fly fishing, real tennis, reading, music, rugby football, and trekking.

RECIPIENT OF HONORARY DEGREE

THOMAS N. ALLEN '60

Doctor of Laws

THOMAS NELSON ALLEN, a descendant of many of Virginia's prominent families, is a founder and chairman of Clovelly Corporation, a Richmond, Virginia, real estate and investment firm started in 2001.

After stints as an account executive with an advertising firm in New York City and as a management consultant with Booz Allen Hamilton, he joined Richmond's East Coast Oil Corporation, which operated a chain of retail gasoline and convenience stores in Virginia and North Carolina. He became its President in 1975 and its Chairman in 1978, running the business until its acquisition by the Israel-based Delek Group in 2001. While he was President of East Coast Oil, he took pride in amassing a significant collection of antique gas pumps, which he restored and preserved.

In one of his many areas of public service, he currently serves as Chairman of the Board of Trustees at Hampden-Sydney College. When he was on the Board of the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts, he was called upon in an emergency to become its interim director, a duty he fulfilled admirably, shepherding the institution through difficult times and a period of important planning for a major addition until a permanent director could be named. He has also served as Director of the Museum's Foundation.

In addition, he has served with distinction on the boards of several Virginia charities, including the Richmond Symphony, the Boys and Girls Club of Metro Richmond, the Virginia Historical Society, St. Christopher's School, and the Richmond Chamber of Commerce. He has led fundraising campaigns for such institutions as the Richmond United Way, the Virginia Foundation for Independent Colleges, and his alma mater.

He is a graduate of Hampden-Sydney College and the University of Virginia Law School, and studied law at the London School of Economics.

THE BIRTHPLACE

Built in 1756 and renovated in 2000, the Birthplace is nicely furnished for conferences. The Birthplace was originally the plantation office of Nathaniel Venable at his home, Slate Hill, which stood about three miles south of Hampden-Sydney. It was in this office that final plans for the opening of the College were made. In 1944 the owners of Slate Hill gave the office building to Hampden-Sydney, and it was moved to its present location.

New College was the result of the crusading fund-raising efforts of President Jonathan Cushing; it is now named in his honor. Begun in 1822 and completed in 1833, it replaced the 18th-century buildings and set a new north-south orientation for the campus. This woodcut, the earliest known image of Hampden-Sydney College, appears in Henry Howe’s “Historical Collections of Virginia” (1845); the drawing probably dates to his visit in 1843.

ACADEMIC REGALIA

The pageantry and dress of the academic procession have been inherited from the medieval universities of the 11th and 12th centuries. Academic life as we know it today began in the Middle Ages, first in the Church, then in the guilds. In the teaching guild the master of arts was the teacher and the bachelor was the apprentice of the master; their dress was the outward sign of privilege and responsibility.

Principal features of academic dress are the gown, the cap, and the hood. Since the 15th century, both Cambridge and Oxford have made academic dress a matter of university control, even to its minor details, and have repeatedly published revised regulations. American universities agreed on a definite system in 1895. In 1932 the American Council on Education presented a revised code which, for the most part, governs the style of academic dress today.

The Gown: The flowing gown comes from the 12th century. While it originally may have been worn as a protection against the cold of unheated buildings, today it has become symbolic of the democracy of scholarship, for it covers any dress of rank or social standing. It is black for all degrees, with pointed sleeves for the bachelor's degree, long closed sleeves with a slit at the arm or wrist for the master's degree, and full bell double sleeves for the doctor's degree. Bachelor's and master's degree gowns have no trimming. For the doctor's degree, the gown is faced down the front with velvet and has three bars of velvet across the sleeves in the color distinctive of the faculty or discipline to which the degree pertains.

The Cap: Under Roman law a freed slave won the privilege of wearing a cap. The academic cap is a sign of freedom of scholarship and the responsibility and dignity with which scholarship endows the wearer. Old poetry records the cap of scholarship as square to symbolize a book. The color of the tassel sometimes denotes the discipline of the degree.

The Doctoral Hood: The doctoral hood is trimmed with one or more chevrons of a second color on the ground of a primary color. The color facing the hood denotes the discipline represented by the degree; the color of the lining designates the university or college from which the degree was granted.

A BRIEF HISTORY OF HAMPDEN-SYDNEY COLLEGE

Hampden-Sydney College's heritage is deeply rooted in the history of both Colonial America and the Presbyterian Church. The founders of the College chose the name Hampden-Sydney to symbolize their devotion to the principles of representative government and full civil and religious freedom which John Hampden (1594–1643) and Algernon Sydney (1622–1683) had outspokenly supported, and for which they had given their lives, in England's two great constitutional crises of the seventeenth century. They were widely invoked as hero-martyrs by American colonial patriots, and their names were immediately associated with the cause of independence championed by James Madison, Patrick Henry, and other less well-known, but equally vigorous, patriots among the College's early Trustees. Indeed, the original students eagerly committed themselves to the revolutionary effort, organized a militia company, drilled regularly, and went off to the defense of Williamsburg and of Petersburg, in 1777 and 1778 respectively. Their uniform of hunting shirts—dyed purple with the juices of pokeberries—and grey trousers prefigured the College's traditional colors, garnet and grey.

First proposed in 1771, the College was formally organized in February 1775, when the Presbytery of Hanover, meeting in Nathaniel Venable's Slate Hill plantation (about two miles south of the present campus), accepted a gift of one hundred acres for the College, elected Trustees, and named as Rector (later President) the Rev. Mr. Samuel Stanhope Smith, valedictorian of the Princeton class of 1769, who had been actively promoting the idea of establishing a college in the heavily Scotch-Irish area of south-central Virginia since he began his ministry there in 1772. Within only ten months, Smith, intending to model the new college after his own alma mater, secured an adequate subscription of funds and an enrollment of 110 students. Students and faculty began gathering in the fall of 1775; the first classes were held on November 10. The College completed its first full year in 1776 and has never suspended operations.

In 1783, Hampden-Sydney's viability, severely tested by the Revolutionary War, was ensured by the grant of a charter from the General Assembly of Virginia. Union Theological Seminary of Virginia (1822) was founded at Hampden-Sydney and occupied the south end of the present campus for some seventy-five years before relocating to Richmond. The Medical College of Virginia was established (1837) at Richmond as the medical department of Hampden-Sydney.

The College matured physically and academically through the first half of the nineteenth century, enjoying the services of some remarkably gifted leaders. Jonathan P. Cushing, a Dartmouth man and the first layman to be president, oversaw the abandonment of the College's original buildings in favor of the handsome Federal architecture which still distinguishes the campus. The world-renowned chemist, Dr. John W. Draper, built the first camera in America and used it to take the world's first astronomical photographs while he was a professor at Hampden-Sydney from 1836 to 1839; he later took the first photograph of a living person.

During the Civil War the students organized a company, with President J. M. P. Atkinson as captain. Officially named the "Hampden-Sydney Boys," they saw action only in the battle of Rich Mountain (June 10–11, 1861); captured as a body, they were paroled by General McClellan on the condition that they lay down their arms and return to their studies.

After the Seminary moved to Richmond in 1898, a most generous alumnus, Major R. M. Venable, bought its buildings and gave them to the College.

Throughout the twentieth century, handsome and practical buildings (among them, most recently, as a result of a successful campaign that raised over $100 million, a new 83,000-square-foot library, a new stadium, and an expanded athletic center) have been added to the campus, while Hampden-Sydney's academic, social, and cultural programs have been continually enriched and expanded, strengthening the coherent tradition of liberal arts education which remains the hallmark of the College. Its success in forging good men and leaders is widely recognized.

Hampden-Sydney looks into its third century with a wholesome optimism, bred of a sober integrity of mission coupled with a history of sound development, and made possible by an extraordinary succession of leaders and benefactors of rare ability, commitment, and vision.
