Information for Theatre Majors:

- Students should start with broad survey classes (THEA 101 and 220) to generate a theatrical vocabulary on which to expand.
- THEA classes are highly interactive. Students need to bring everything—body, mind and critical thinking—to the classroom. THEA courses also strengthen transferrable skills such as confidence in public settings, time and resource management, and interpersonal skills.
- THEA majors are encouraged to participate in productions on campus, as well as in the local Waterworks productions or summer theatre programs.
- THEA 260 and 261 (formerly 360/361) are courses that can be taken more than once for credit, as the topic rotates.
- There are plays on every subject, thus, an education in theatre is an education in everything (a sort of liberal art within the liberal arts. In each production, players must delve into topical aspects (general info, history, culture, etc) to add depth and credibility to the performance.
- Students interested in arts management may want to consider ECON 101 as a prerequisite for the following courses: BUSN 222, 231 or 241; and may want to consult with the department chair about courses in the Sweet Briar Arts Mgmt. Program.
